Overview

Discover Ouarzazate at street level on a private walk around the Taourirt quarter, combining earthen heritage with a carefully arranged food or tea stop. Hear local stories, browse at a relaxed pace and discuss the dishes served at everyday Moroccan tables. Your route, host and tasting menu are agreed before booking; the food photographs are dish references, not images of a promised restaurant.

Experiences

1. A private guided city walk
2. Taourirt quarter and kasbah exteriors
3. An optional pre-arranged tasting or meal
4. A flexible pace for questions and photography

Your itinerary

Day 1 / Taourirt heritage quarter & a shared table

Meet your guide at the exact public meeting point confirmed near Taourirt Kasbah. Begin with the surrounding historic streets and exterior viewpoints, learning how earthen architecture, local life and cinema connect in Ouarzazate. Continue on suitable public streets, with time to ask questions and photograph architecture. Do not enter private homes or treat residents as a scheduled attraction. Pause at the café, bakery or local table agreed for your group. Depending on the confirmed menu and opening hours, you might try bread, mint tea, pastries or a separately arranged Moroccan meal. Tastings are optional and charged as listed in your quote; no particular dish or restaurant is guaranteed from the photographs. Finish at the agreed city meeting point. A kasbah or museum interior can be added only when opening hours, tickets and additional time have been confirmed.

Questions & answers

Is my preferred date confirmed immediately?

You can request any future date. The team checks the driver or guide, opening arrangements and your group's needs before sending a written quotation. Sending a request does not reserve a departure or require immediate payment.

Can children join?

Families can request these private programmes. Share children's ages, infant and child-seat needs, walking preferences and any practical support requirements. The provider confirms suitability and any separate child or infant rate.

How are changes and cancellation handled?

Your written quotation states the final programme, inclusions, payment arrangements and cancellation terms. Review these before accepting. Weather, access or host availability may require a revised route, agreed with you before departure.
